

With the tornado and all, we are staying close to home this year for our SNYF summer mission trip 2011.

(and maybe saving a little money for what we hope to be an international mission trip next summer, stay tuned)

COST IS $125 BEFORE June 20, $150 AFTER.

Registration forms and more info are on the helping hands website at <http://www.hh-missioncamp.org>

This is from their website:

Welcome to Helping Hands Ministry

Mission Camp 2011: July 17th - July 22nd

Helping Hands Mission Camp is a Christ centered, youth focused, multi-denominational community service mission for rising 7th graders through recent high school graduates.

Campers are divided into work teams with adult mentors. Our teams complete home maintenance, home repairs and small construction projects for those in Gloucester County who are not able to do these repairs themselves. We work hard during the day and play hard at night with lively worship services and a variety of evening activities. All meals, accommodations, activities and a camp t-shirt are included in the fee.

Come have fun, help those who need it, and experience worship on a different level with other great youth just like you!

Sponsored by the churches of Gloucester County,
Virginia

COST FOR THE WEEK IS $125 BEFORE JUNE 20, $150 AFTER.

You can also contact me or Seth at church for more info, 693-2071, let Seth know if you have already registered, so we can keep track of you all. Seth also has info on scholarships.

I have some camp flyers in the plastic folder-holder on the SNYF room door (blue papers)

Hope you all still have time to fit this camp into your summer schedule, it is an excellent opportunity,

Thanks to you all for all your hard work this year, it was a very good 2011 for SNYF, enjoy your summer,

watch your emails and the church bulletins for any SNYF day trips and fund raisers that might pop up on the radar.

Chuck and Seth and Netti and Darren and all the other SNYF folks.
